

METROWIRED
ENABLING TOMORROW

MISSION

Enabling economies through digital revolution

VISION

To create digital transformation to an all-inclusive society

PAST

Metrowired, having pioneered the first municipal infrastructure network which enabled The City of Johannesburg to become a digital city. With this innovative mindset Metrowired's foundation was that of breaking boundaries in technologies which lead the way for an increased demand for fibre. MetroWired, being an early adopter of technologies, coupled with our understanding of customer's environments is perfectly positioned to address the new digital economy.

PRESENT

MetroWired, in an ever-evolving technology landscape has reinvented itself to become an enabler to customers through strategic partnerships and emerging technologies

MetroWired is a 100% black owned company that has embraced the transformation gap within our country and has set on a path to an all-inclusive diverse management structure encompassing youth, women and men.

MetroWired’s phenomenal year ending February 19/20 saw the company triple its staff compliment which is demonstrative of our growth, based on a customer experience and our ever-expanding strategic partnerships, which has enabled us to grow from strength to strength.

MetroWired's journey has transcended borders and delivered their expertise to neighbouring countries within the SADC region. The realization of the BoPL (broadband over powerline) technology is yet another example of our commitment to embracing technologies and being at the forefront of adoption and implementation.

MetroWired professional services arm was instrumental in the architecture, planning and project management with Botswana in their vision of becoming a digital country through consultation.

FUTURE

Learning from our past, MetroWired is ahead of the curve in developing solutions to suit customer needs through future technologies with strategic partners, guided by Gartner's intelligence. The first focus is to enhance customer experience through an omni-channel world, whilst driving business intelligence thereby creating a unique customer journey,
